Passage of Subsidy Law.

COUNTRY READY FOR TRIAL

At Berkeley Made a Speech on Ideality And Reality in Government.

san Francisco, Oct. 5,-After spending the entire forenoon in the cities of Berkeley and Oakland across the bay, president Taft was welcomed to San Francisco this afternoon by a throng which lined the walks in some places 10 deep along a line of march extending over nearly three miles of the principal streets. The schoolchildren of this city, Oakland and Berkeley gave their joyous cheers for the president, and, as in most of the other cities Mr. Taft has in most of the other cities Mr. That has visited on this trip, were one of the prominent features of his reception.

Later in the day the president was the guest of honor at a reception at the guest of honor at a reception at the Union League club. Tonight he was tendered a banquet at the Fair-mont hotel by more than 600 residents of San Francisco, and later was enter-tained at the Press club. The presi-dent retired at midnight at the St. Francis hotel and will leave at 8 o'clock pressure of the pressure of the st.

In his speech at the banquet tonight the president reiterated his views on the subject of a merchant marine and broused great enthusiasm by his dec-bration that he would urge the passage laration that he would urge the passage of a ship subsidy law as one of the principal subjects in his forthcoming message to Congress. Mr. Taft asserted that the country was ready for an experiment in the way of a subsidy. The extension of the Pacific trade is one of the objects of his administration, Mr. Taft said, and he added that he knew of no more important topic to which Congress can devote itself. which Congress can devote itself.

In his speech at Berkeley today the president said: "It is a great pleasure for me to be here and to be received by Prof. Moses, an old comrade— had al-Prof. Moses, an old comrade—had almost said in arms—but we did not carry muskets in the Philippines—but my comrade in attempting to initiate legislation and to pioneer in the fardistant islands of the Pacific.

"None the less, the high standard set by those critics is of the utmost use in lifting up government and lifting up a people. The resultant feeling an inspiration for higher things and being compelled either to modify or qualify your ideals in practical results is, after all, progress.

"I like to affirm that I am an optimist, and an optimist with respect to popular government. If I were not I should not enjoy being in the business of government; but in that progress we sometimes have to give way in our theories to the views of the general public, shown in the votes at the polls or in the votes in Congress, and not infrequently, years after, we have to admit that the result which is reached by reconciling and compromising all the by reconciling and compromising all the views of differing people is better than if we followed with literal fidelity the the theory of any one person.

POPULAR GOVERNMENT.

POPULAR GOVERNMENT.

"Popular government is justified and vindicated on the theory that every class—and by that I mean those who in respect to a community are similarly situated and affected by the same circumstances—is better able in the long run to know what its interests are and to look after those interests than the members of any other class may be; and that being the foundation of popular government, and it being impossible, therefore, that any one class shall give out laws for all, the necessary result of our ogvernment is compromise, and he is a good citizen who recognizes that necessary result, and who, when his own opinion is not followed out as he would like to have it, becomes what I remember your own distinguished professor lectured upon in the university, when I was here—he must make himself a good loser.' He must play the game. He is in popular government and he has to take what popular government gives him, until by his influence with the people who control, he can lead them in the direction which he would, and if they don't go in that direction, then he has to play bail with them and follow them."

President Taft then referred to his association with the University of Callfornia, which the members of the first Philippine commission visited on their way to the eastern archipelago.

But that is it. You never can tell what the future is going to bring about. It seemed a long way around to the White House to go out 10,000 miles into the tropics, but that is where it landed me, and as I started from Berkeley it delights me now that I have reached that goal, if it can be considered a goal, for I was not wandering in that direction consciously, it is a pleasure goal, for I was not wandering in that direction consciously, it is a pleasure to me here to testify to the association —one of the most important of my life—which I have had with this grand old institution."

TWO MEN OF SAME NAME CLAIM LEGACY

Los Angeles, Oct. 6.—When Theodore P. Bunnell, a wealthy resident of Santa Monica, died two years ago he left a legacy of $10,000 to "William Prabasco, son of Abraham Prabasco." There was no other designation and as soon as the will was offered for probate two claimants appeared—William Prabasco of Tippecanoe, Ind., and William Prabasco of Tippecanoe, Ind., and William Prabasco of Abraham.

That fact has resulted in such confusion that the estate is tied up in a lawsuit, which is being heard today in the superior court. The legal problem is to determine which William, son of Abraham, Bunnell meant the $10,000 for.

WARSHIPS FIRED SALUTE FOR PRINCE WILLIAM'S BABY

New York, Oct 6.—When the official but belated news that the German crown princess, Cecilie, had given birth to a son reached the German flagship Victoria Luise, the glad tidings were signalled to all the other warships in the Hudson river and immediately a cannonading such as was never heard there before broke forth. Each warship of every nation represented, fired a royal salute of Il guns. While this unusual salute was being fired all of the vessels from the small Mexican gunboat Morales, off Sixtieth street, to the flagship off One Hundred and Seventh street, dressed themselves in gay colors, in celebration of the event.

A book of 140 pages showing the latter-day apostasy.

This book is invaluable and indispensable to missionaries and all other students of Church history. It deals thoroughly with the origin of the Reorganized church and conclusively proves it to be of apostate sources, also that that church has departed from the doctrines of the Prophet Joseph Smith and now attacks them vindictively, denying many of the principles of the gospel. The book also treats the Succession in the Presidency and shows that PRESIDENT BRIGHAM YOUNG WAS PROPERLY ORDAIN-ED TO LEAD THE CHURCH.
